

CRYING MAGI

WONDEROUS ITEM, RARE

---

This earring is a small teardrop blue diamond of extremely high quality hanging from a short silver chain. The diamond is housed in an intricate latticework of silver. The entire piece is the size of an adult human thumbnail.

---

This earring can store any single spell 5th tier or lower. To charge the earring, the wearer must cast the spell normally, but willfully channel their magic into the earring, instead of unleashing the effect. The spell goes through the normal spellcasting process at the time it is charged. The wearer can then willfully discharge the stored spell at will, without having to repay any of the original casting cost. This action is done mentally, so it does not require V, S, or M components.

---

If the earring is damaged or destroyed, the stored spell (if there is one) is instantly cast at the location of the earring.

